LANDLORD & TENANT

The outcome of landlord and tenant negotiations is affected by the precise wording of leases and associated documents. It is therefore crucial to have a thorough understanding of their correct interpretation.

Rent remains the second largest cost to an occupier business and it is more important than ever to be aware of market trends and take advantage of them when negotiating new leases or rent reviews.

We use our expert knowledge to achieve favourable results for our clients - maximising income for landlords and minimising liabilities for tenants.

We have specialists across the country that act as expert witness and are experienced in taking cases to arbitration, expert determination or to court.

Dunlop Heywood has assisted a number of companies with due diligence on many transactions. Our Landlord and Tenant team assists clients on both acquisitions and disposals where the fine detail in the leases often proves to be crucial in getting the deal over the line. Working closely with solicitors we have often assisted in the drafting of rent review clauses and by providing core rental valuation advice. In many instances input from the Dunlop Heywood team has proved crucial in driving these transactions to a successful conclusion.
